To the Academy of Ancient Music.

GENTLEMEN

To You, in whose School I was educated, and to whose friendly & Generous Protection, ever since continued, I am so much indebted, I beg leave, with the utmost Gratitude Respect & Esteem, to dedicate the following Piece: should these Additions to it, made at Your request and which You have so kindly approved, any way contribute to revive or preserve the Memory of an ingenious Man who was once an Ornament to Your Society, I shall think my time well employed.

That the ACADEMY may long prosper, and You continue Members of this laudable Institution, which for these last Three-score Years has been promoting and encouraging in this Kingdom the study & practice of real and undoubted good Harmony, is sincerely the earnest wish of him who is with filial Regard,

Gentlemen,

Your much obliged

and most faithful Servant

Benjamin Cooke
